Not illustrated. 1914 Excerpt: .there is need for something that will increase the efficiency of the men, the first step toward which is to more accurately measure their service. To arrive at a fair and accurate foundation for such a study, it is necessary to secure detailed data of the relative cost of maintenance of various portions of the track structure in comparison with the cost of maintaining one mile of main track as a unit. The Committee is endeavoring to secure the co-operation of a number of roads in selecting certain main and branch line sections of ordinary track, section length, on which the actual records of cost will be accurately kept and reported to the Committee. Such sections should preferably be those on which only routine maintenance work will be done, as this study is intended primarily to cover maintenance charges only, and all additions and betterments on the section under observation should be reported in detail separately. The attached sheet outlines the general characteristics of the section, and the sample monthly record sheet shows the scope of the work outlined, whjch it is desired should extend over a period of one year, beginning July 1, 1914. In selecting sections more satisfactory results can be secured if those are chosen where the Supervisor and Foreman will give this their sympathetic support. There are also attached to this letter two forms. One providing for the distribution of labor cost for twelve-month period, classifying this expense in accordance with the...
